

Workforce housing will not attract a disproportionate number of school-aged children to your town, nor will it cause property taxes to increase.

The people who live in workforce housing are people you need: teachers, police officers, fire fighters, chefs, librarians, bankers, medical professionals, shop owners, and more.

Workforce housing includes a range of housing types and can be for rent or for sale.

Workforce housing isn't subsidized by the government.

Workforce housing can be – and has been – built without access to municipal water and sewer.

Workforce housing may cause your property values to increase.

Workforce housing can be beautiful, desirable, and sustainable.

Workforce housing can be thoughtfully designed to fit into your community's unique, small town character.

Every community needs to be part of the solutions to New Hampshire's housing crisis.
